

All Rights Reserved

ALMASHIPPING PRIVACY POLICY

Copyright © 2007,Almashipping All Rights Reserved

Intellectual Property Rights

The presentation and content of the present website constitute on the whole, a protected piece of work by the current laws about the intellectual property. The denominations or appeals and the logos are, with the exception of particular indications, property of Almashipping.com. No commercial exploitation, reproduction, representation, utilization, adaptation, modification, incorporation, translation, any commercial exploitation, partial or integral of the elements of this site could be made without the previous and written consent of Almashipping.com with the exception of the use for private purposes under the reserve of different dispositions or more restrictive of the Intellectual Property Code.

Personal data usage:

Almashipping.com does not re-sell personal data of its clients and defends the respect of the confidentiality of its data. Their information (emails...etc) shall not in any case be handed over to third parties.

Rights of the web users: modification, rectification, suppression

You can exercise your rights by writing to us at:

Info@almashipping.com

External Links:

Rights of the web users: modification, rectification, suppression

Personal data usage:

The links at the website Almashipping.com towards external websites will not be the responsibility of Almashipping particularly with regards to the contents of those websites but, also with regards to the technical risks. By accepting the use of a link with the intention of accessing an external website, you accept to take the risks and be the object of a possible damage, directly or indirectly.

Almashipping.com it is not responsible for the links that could direct to your website. The placement of those links is strictly prohibited without a previous and written consent.